

Consultant –
Programme Director –
Professional Services
Manager - Trainer

After many years leading projects and programmes, Trevor is now a leading exponent of Organisational Project Management. He helps major organisations advance their capability, practices and governance in order to increase competitiveness, client satisfaction and the value of project portfolios.

*“Without Trevor’s inspiration and motivation in driving this initiative, the positive results achieved would not have been realised.”
Siemens Programme Executive*

At his best when:

- Leading and architecting organisational change
- Creating and implementing strategies that ensure complex projects and programmes are successful
- When building high performance multi-disciplinary teams
- Promoting the profession of project and programme management
- Coaching and teaching professionals to reach their potential
- Working at all levels
- Making a difference

Some of the things you might like to know:

- Is a regular speaker on the topic of organisational PPM performance improvement and has a deep understanding of supply-side project management (bidding and delivery)
- Has spent most of his career in IT, systems integration and outsourcing companies
- Has managed project delivery groups in Compaq, Siemens and Cambridge Technology Partners, and, been a Head of PPM Capability Development in Siemens
- Programme Director of a major change programme to improve the professionalism, capability and performance of 400+ project practitioners (APM and PMI compatible standards)
- Has been a PPM adviser to the National Audit Office and an OGC Prince2:2009 reviewer
- Is a Fellow, director and trustee of the Association for Project Management, and, a Visiting Fellow of Kingston’s University’s Faculty of Business and Law
- Proposed new strategies for improving a UK bank’s project portfolio and product management performance
- Led world-leading digital mapping and interactive digital television software development programmes
- Has recovered business critical media, utility, teleco and public sector IT projects
- Has delivered advanced PPM training courses in the UK, Germany and India
- Has a BSc in Computer Science and an MBA in Project Management from Henley Business School